Fundamental indexing simply costs more than capitalization-weighted indexing. The funds are not as large, and thus do not benefit as much from economies of scale. Rather than rebalancing automatically as a cap-weighted index does, a fundamental index must be rebalanced from time to time, incurring additional transaction (and tax) costs.

Fundamental Versus Cap Weighted Index Funds

It turns out that when you use the fundamental index methodologies to create an index, the net effect is to (1) lower the average size of the companies in the index relative to a market capitalization methodology, and (2) increase the value tilt of the companies in the index relative to a market capitalization methodology.
